

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

A convention of the republican party of the state of Wisconsin will be held at Madison on Wednesday, April 24, at 10 o'clock, for the purpose of electing delegates and four at large to the national convention to be held at Chicago, June 3, 1884, to nominate the electoral ticket, to select a republican state central committee, to act upon the proposition of the state central committee to the change of basis of representation in future elections, and to transact such other business as may be brought before the convention. The delegates to the convention will be elected by the various congressional districts in the election of delegates to the convention, who are in favor of electing and dignifying American labor, protecting and extending home industries without discrimination in favor of any class or interest, saving free popular education to the masses, securing free and honest elections, and the right of every citizen of our common country, and who are willing to support the nominees of the national republican convention.

The republicans of the various congressional districts shall have the option of electing their delegates, senators, congressmen, and electors, to the national republican convention, to be held in the congressional district at any time within the fifteen days next preceding the meeting of the state convention, or by subdivision of the state convention into district conventions, to be held at any time within the fifteen days next preceding the meeting of the state convention. All district delegates shall be elected by the district conventions, and all electors by the district conventions, and all senators by the district conventions, and all congressmen by the district conventions, and all delegates to the national republican convention by the district conventions.

There is a glimmer of hope that Fitz John Porter will catch fire in the senate. One commendable feature connected with the campaign so far is that no rail way train vote has yet been taken. On the 22d of June next the people of Oregon will vote on a proposition to amend the state constitution as to admit the women to vote on all political questions in that state. The proposition is simply to strike out the word "male" where it occurs in the constitution. The experience of Utah and Wyoming as regards woman suffrage, is not such as will tend to strengthen this cause in Oregon. But for all that, the novelty of the thing may possibly carry the constitutional amendment.

The New York Herald is credited with the suggestion that the democrats should nominate President Arthur if the republicans do not. This may appear a ridiculous piece of business to the average democrat mind, but not so from the point of view taken by the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette: "It is not so absurd as it looks upon second thought. The party that could make Horace Greeley its nominee could find nothing indigestible in Arthur. If they were satisfied they could win with Arthur they would take him as readily as the democrats of Massachusetts took Ben Butler."

The people in San Francisco went as wild over Patti as the people of Chicago did, and the report comes from that city that over 300 people stood in line all night to be first at the box-office yesterday morning. The tickets were on sale only a short time when the management announced all sold. The long line of people howled like mad men. Some had paid $12 for their place in the line. A few minutes after the announcement that all the tickets were sold speculators offered them at $20 each. It is publicly asserted that persons connected with the management are concerned in the dishonorable scheme. Great indignation was manifested; $30 had been paid for seats in the dress circle.

Attorney General Frisby has received a letter from Mr. Charles H. Parker, of Beloit, asking for an official opinion on the question of inspectors and clerks of election. In mentioning this fact the State Journal says the statute provides that at the first regular meeting of council and village boards, held in September, the mayor or president of the board shall nominate three inspectors and two clerks of election. These nominees shall be elected by the council or board, and in case of a failure of election other nominees are secured. The term of such inspectors and clerks is fixed at one year from date of election, and it is provided that such inspectors and clerks be present at all elections held during their term. There being no election last fall, the matter of providing such inspectors and clerks, it is believed, by lack of the usual stimulus, overlooked in many cities and villages of the state. Those elected in September, 1882, are without power by statute of limitation of the term, and the question arises what bearing will the matter have upon the approaching municipal elections in places where such inspectors and clerks were not provided in September, 1883. The Journal says the attorney general has taken the matter under advisement.

Mrs. Belva Lockwood, the noted lawyer of Washington, created quite a sensation in that city the other day when she addressed the National Woman's suffrage convention. Mrs. Lockwood is very much like Victoria Woodhull in her persistency in letting the cat out of the bag and in telling the truth though it shame the devil. She severely criticised the Edmunds polygamy law and made quite an able defense for the Mormon church; and was about to say some interesting things in regard to Washington society, when Susan B. Anthony, who presided at the convention, brought down the gavel with such wicked force that Mrs. Lockwood was not permitted to say all she wished to say. Before, however, the gavel fell, she had time to mention the fact that polygamy in Salt Lake City was no worse than practical polygamy in Washington society. She had just got warmed up to CLOSE QUARTERS.

First Class Prospect for Another Battle with Osman Digma.

The Arab Leader's Plan to "Do Up" the British—News from Sudan.

STANLEY, March 10.—The British forces reached Baker Pasha's position at Zandera, at midnight, and went into camp. The Abyssinian scouts reported that Osman Digma was in position and surrounded by a large force of rebels. After dinner, at about 1 o'clock, the British started from their camp, advancing in a square. The rebels without intervention. Five thousand of the enemy have been sighted and battle is imminent. The rebels are twelve miles distant from Sudan.

STANLEY, March 10.—The British have taken position on the Nile, and an attack will be made at daybreak with seven Gatling guns. The cavalry will probably fight dismounted. Hidden in the trenches and pits are bodies of rebels. The British scouts are frequently fired upon.

Graham Bettey "Loots a Accute Out." Sudan, March 10.—A spy has informed Gen. Graham that a force of 2,000 Arabs are encamped among the bushes in a defile through which the British troops are expected to pass on their march against Osman Digma. They hope to have an opportunity to surprise the invaders by a sudden attack in the rear. They are armed with swords and spears only.

The Khedive's Idea. Cairo, March 10.—The khedive, in conversation with a press correspondent, said that the policy pursued by England in reference to the Sudan question caused him much anxiety. The relations between England and Egypt, which for many years had given rise to difficult questions and delicate complications, were especially embarrassing at the present time. His position was an unpleasant one, perplexed as he was by the necessity of accepting England's intervention, which was naturally offensive to his subjects. The patriotism of his people was irritated by the presence and domination of a foreign element, and England's distance from Egypt helped to strengthen the popular feeling that British interference was a usurpation. The khedive, in referring to the proposed acquisition of Zohedi Pasha, governor of the Sudan, expressed confidence in Zohedi's loyalty. Should he prove hostile to the present administration, however, he would still be an Egyptian and a less dangerous foe to her institutions than the barbarian El Mahdi.

News from Stanley. London, March 10.—The Royal Geographical society has received a communication from Henry M. Stanley, stating that he has found the Aruvimi river to be a tributary of the Oubangui or Oubanghi. Although the two have heretofore been set down on the maps as entirely separate rivers, the discovery of the Congo river, the Aruvimi is navigable for a considerable distance. Mr. Stanley reports that the Arabs have recently ravaged the country in the direction of the Aruvimi, and captured several caravans, including a Portuguese caravan containing 1,800 persons with many children. They also attacked and killed a party of traders near Nio, who were attempting to average their caravans. The expedition then sailed several days, belonging to the European settlements. The international expedition secured the settlers, and the fighting had lasted for a week and was still in progress at the time the information was forwarded. The French contingent and a Portuguese gunboat joined in the defense of the settlements.

Wouldn't Be Subdued. CONSTANTINOPLE, March 10.—A passage at arms occurred last week between Gen. Wallace and the grand vizier. Acting under instructions from Washington, Gen. Wallace has lately been pressing the Porte very hard for a settlement of the petroleum questions and American claims generally. The grand vizier, irritated at such interference, refused to receive Minister Wallace when the latter sought an audience for the special purpose of demanding some official answer to his various long-standing demands, placing an emphasis on important issues. An angry official correspondence ensued, in which the pretensions were advanced that ministers have not the same right to approach the grand vizier at all times as an ambassador possesses. Said Pasha has expressed an intention to ask General Wallace's recall. Such a proceeding, however, is very improbable. The Porte dare not do so without the sanction of the sultan, with whom General Wallace occupies on very friendly terms. A petroleum storage concession has just been granted to certain individuals at Beyrut.

Peninsular Operations in Canada. Toronto, March 10.—The usefulness among members of parliament caused by the dynamite scare increases. Buildings have been guarded for the past two weeks by armed volunteers, though this was not generally known, the government preferring to keep the matter quiet. The guards are very vigilant, and even members of the legislature are not exempted from the general surveillance. Just outside of the city, where there is stored 500,000 rounds of ammunition, suspicious characters were found tampering with the magazine locks, and extra guards have been put to watch the place. Extra precautions have been taken at Halifax and Ottawa, and Kingston has been carefully looked after. It is believed that British agents in New York and Buffalo picked up information that shows that the Fenians are again looking toward Canada as a field of operations, and that dynamite is to be their chief weapon. It is thought that the Irish want to strike now to encourage the Mainbooms to make trouble.

Another Dynamite Outrage. London, March 10.—There was an explosion in a hotel at Fulham, a suburb of London. It is believed that another Fenian dynamite outrage. A box containing four packages, apparently cartridges, was found on the premises. One man was blown to pieces.

Inspector Storer has returned to London from France. He failed to find evidence that the Fenians in Paris made dynamite, or were implicated in the London explosion. He also failed to find any on board the steamer Danube brought the dynamite to London. These men the police are now tracking.

The Lasker Incident. Berlin, March 10.—The Provincial Correspondence says the Lasker discussion is closed. The Germans have agreed it is no affair of parliament to examine into the merits of foreign politicians, and that the nation's only intercourse should be through the supreme court.

The German Gazette attributes the fuss to the Berlin correspondence of The London Times, the editor of the paper, who had said, "I will fill up strife between Germany and other countries."

Void of Offense. The French becomes "void of offense," when contaminated with decaying or immature teeth, if SOZODONT, the national toothbrush of bodily purification, is used systematically. It instantly and speedily reforms of those conditions favorable to dental decay, such as the corrosive action of acid impurities fermenting upon the coronal surface, the destruction of the enamel by tartar and the injurious influence of tobacco. Polish daily and after meals, if possible.

Indigestion is quickly cured by the use of Bax's Maltine Bitters. Price 25 cents. Sold by Stearns & Baker.

THE LABORER AND HIS HIRE.

The Cigar-Makers' Lockout.

CINCINNATI, March 10.—The locked-out cigar-makers met at Arbeiter hall to the number of 1,200, fully 500 of them being sympathizers. Moore & Kneibler are reported to have sent their molds to Germantown, Ohio, with the object of having their cigars manufactured there. The secretary was ordered to notify the unions in Germantown and Elmer of this fact, and to present their brands from being manufactured. Resolutions were adopted recognizing the Progressive union, which the bosses expected to attack, but which is in sympathy with these locked out. A resolution that the Progressive board, at their meeting, levy an assessment of 10 per cent. on members who are working to support members who are not called to benefit from the strike, was adopted. A resolution that the public be informed that this is not a strike on the part of the cigar-makers, but a lockout on the part of the manufacturers, because the union would not allow the men at J. H. Lucke & Co.'s shop to work below the regular price paid by other shops.

ESS Miners in Council. PITTSBURGH, March 10.—At the session of the miners' convention it was decided to send a committee to the river and railroad miners where the men are working under price and induce them to come out. A resolution to pay the state officers in full to May 1 and discharge them was defeated. It was decided to use the balance of the assessment made for supporting strikers. The members of the trades tribunal who were present received instructions to demand 35 cents per bushel for mining for the next six months in the railroad mines.

Notes. PITTSBURGH, March 10.—A meeting of the Western Nail association was held here. A large number of manufacturers from Wheeling were present. The result of the meeting was a unanimous decision on the part of the representatives to let matters remain as they are at present, since prices for nails were fair. No other than the routine business of the regular monthly meeting was transacted.

Reduction of Wages. FALL RIVER, Mass., March 10.—The Carbury mill has announced a reduction to spinners and carders on March 17. The carders say they will strike if the reduction is more than 1 1/2 per cent. The fall workers are beginning to speak collections.

A Sort of Matrimonial Rearrange. NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 10.—Branford is excited over a spicy engagement case. Charles H. Derby, of Branford, abandoned his wife three weeks ago and she has since given birth to a baby. Derby went to Branford and passed for a day and night, and engaged board at the house of Mrs. Culver, whose husband is a sailor. Mrs. Culver had a friend, Mrs. Day, and all three were engaged in an intimate relation. Derby's first husband died several weeks before his second marriage, and she had an affection for her brother; so recently Derby and Mrs. Culver, and the young man and Mrs. Day left town. When Culver came home he found his wife with a child with a begonia in a but in the woods. Day, upon his return, found that he was wifeless. Derby took all of Culver's best clothing and bedding. Nothing is known of the whereabouts of the quartette.

"Another Good Man." ETC. NEW YORK, March 10.—Mr. Henry Barre, of the firm of Putnam & Earle, bankers and brokers at 2 Wall street, stated that the report that William C. Morgan, who has charge of the branch office at Hartford, had become a defaulter, is untrue. Mr. Earle thought that the amount taken by Morgan would not exceed $20,000. Morgan occupied a high position in business and social life. At present he is confined to his bed dangerously ill, and will probably not recover. Mr. Earle says that the firm will meet all obligations incurred on his behalf by Morgan. Nobody but himself and his partner will lose anything. He thinks that Morgan speculated with what little money he had himself and after losing it drew on the funds of the firm. Morgan was a very quiet and unassuming man, but in a local incident confessed to Mr. Earle that he was a defaulter, but did not know to what extent.

The Crouch Murders. JACKSON, Mich., March 10.—In the Crouch investigation C. D. Harrington testified that ten days before the murder Foy asked him to aid in putting Jacob Crouch out of the way, offering him $500 to participate. After the murder Foy warned Harrington to leave town, under threats that J. C. Crouch and Harrington would kill him, and he only returned last Sunday. It was also testified that Harrington purchased a pistol shortly before the murders of the same caliber used in committing the crime, although he had sworn at the inquest that he never used such a weapon. Public opinion is decidedly forming against the accused man.

—Mr. D. F. Sullivan, of the jewelry firm of P. C. Cook & Co., started yesterday on the road with a large assortment of jewelry. It will be about three or four weeks. Dan is a popular salesman, and never fails to have splendid business trips.

—We are requested to state that the delegates appointed by the several fire companies, for the purpose of nominating candidates for chief and assistant engineers of our fire department, will meet at the west side engine house on Saturday evening, at 7:30 o'clock.

—Miss Celia Neal, of the first ward who has been teaching school the past winter near Oshkosh, left on the 12:30 p. m. train to-day for New York, where she will meet her father, Captain John Neal, with whom she will make a voyage at sea, visiting the West India islands. She expects to be absent about six months.

—William R. Whitwell of this city, who studied medicine in Dr. St. John's office, and Harold B. Anderson who read in Dr. Palmer's office, have just graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, of Chicago. Dr. Anderson was honored with the presidency of the graduating class. These young men were graduated with honors, and are especially bright and energetic in their studies. Their friends in this city will wish them the highest success in their profession.

—The residence of Mr. H. P. Fales, in the town of La Prairie, was the scene of a large gathering of young people last evening, the occasion being the meeting at that place of the young people's guild of the Baptist church of this city. There were also present quite a number of the members of the Congregational society. The company was hospitably entertained at Mr. Fales' home, and the party returned home later in the evening well pleased with the visit and sloop ride into the country.

—The managers of the Janesville C. C. band are closing arrangements to-day, with Mr. Peter Myers, for a lease of the old Young America hall, for a term of years. The band will use this hall for dancing parties, and for their general accommodation, and will open it as a roller skating rink on Monday, Wednesday and Saturday evenings of each week. They will return to the hall and waiting rooms in first class style for the accommodation of their patrons, and will conduct the skating rink in the best manner possible. We see no reason why they cannot make a success of the new venture.

—Mr. R. L. Horne and family went to Brodhead the eleventh of March to attend the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of Mr. Horne's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Horne. None but the relatives being present. Owing to the ill health of Mr. Horne the affair was quiet but pleasant. Rev. Mr. Nourse made a short and impressive service and prayer, after which he presented "father" with a gold headed cane, and "mother" with a pair of gold spectacles. They were also the recipients of other presents from grand children. They then sat down to a table well laden with all that could tempt the appetite.

—Nathaniel's pleasant return. They all were well and glad to see him.

—The funeral of the late Mrs. George H. Williston took place at her late residence on South Franklin street, at ten o'clock this forenoon, and was attended by a very large number of sympathizing friends. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. M. G. Hodge, of the Baptist church, and the beautiful song service by a quartet consisting of Miss Kittie Farnsworth, Miss Fannie Edwards, Messrs. Homer Rice and Will Jefferson. At the conclusion of the solemn service the remains were taken to Oak Hill cemetery for burial. Messrs. W. H. Tallman, Isaac Farnsworth, A. F. Hall, J. L. Ford, J. O. Echlin and J. T. Wright being the pall bearers.

—Mr. C. A. Booth, of the Monroe Sentinel, who was among the callers at our office to-day, informed us that the jury in the case of McManus against the city of Lancaster, which was concluded in the circuit court at Monroe last evening, brought in a verdict for $8,000 damages for the plaintiff. This suit was brought to recover damages for injuries sustained by plaintiff from a defective sidewalk. The case was tried once before, when a verdict of $2,000 was rendered, upon which an appeal was taken to the supreme court on the ground of excessive damages. The case was sent back for a new trial, with the above result. Messrs. W. E. Carter and A. R. Bushnell were the attorneys for the plaintiff, and John G. Clark and Judge Mills for the defendant.

—We look upon the growth and improvement in the seed business as practically without limit. American tables are supplied with the finest vegetables in the world. The past year has its share in the improvement of both vegetable and flower seeds. The seed firms of D. M. Yerry & Co., of Detroit, Michigan, are under the management of one of the most ex## permenant and successful growers in America, and the statement has frequently been made by those fully competent to judge, that while they are not the largest they are the best cultivated and most productive seed firms in the country. They employ several hundred hands who have acquired a knowledge of seeds, and a skill and accuracy in handling them, which reduces the possibility of mistakes. They have contracts for seeds to be grown for them in localities ranging from Connecticut to California. These contracts are with experienced growers, who devote their entire time and attention to the business. Their descriptive catalogue for 1894, contains 135 pages, and is profusely illustrated with vegetables and flowers of all kinds, and contains many useful hints in regard to the kind of soil, and general cultivation necessary for each variety. Those in want of anything in their line can do no better than to send for one of their illustrated catalogues. Their seed are for sale by all dealers.

Death of Mrs. Brown.

Mrs. Fanny Brown, of Pierre, Dakota, daughter of Mrs. J. A. Hovey, died at the home of her mother in the first ward, at noon to-day. This sad news will be unexpected and read with feelings of deep sorrow by her many friends in Janesville. She had recovered from the severe operation she underwent six weeks since, and had been up from her bed for ten days, feeling in better health than she herself expressed, but she had been for years, but after partaking of a hearty meal, she had an attack of vomiting, which was severe and continued, and followed by inflammation of the stomach, which soon terminated fatally. The time of the funeral has not yet been announced.

Livery Stable.

Nelson Bros., corner of Court and Park streets, at the east end of the lower bridge, keep a first class livery stable. Any one in want of a good rig would do well to call on them. They also furnish horse and carriages for funerals at a reasonable rate.

Eads' Illustrated History.

Mr. A. B. Eads' Illustrated History of Janesville is now ready for distribution. It is a large 22 page folder, not including the cover which is a handsome tint. There are 39 columns of historical and other reading matter, besides many illustrations. In the advertising pages of the work will be found finely displayed "ads" of the principal business houses of the city, and with them numerous articles showing the origin and the progress of the various establishments. Such a work cannot fail to be useful to the citizens of Janesville, and appreciated by the public generally. It is gotten up in such an attractive form that it will be well worth preserving as a work of reference.

Mr. Eads came here to undertake the arduous task of publishing such a work at a very dull season of the year; but a glance over the pages of the Illustrated History will satisfy every one that he has made good use of his time, and that his success is unquestioned. He is a thorough business man, and in his dealings with the business public is a perfect gentleman. The printing was done at the Recorder office and is a credit to that firm.

Our readers will find all medicines advertised in this paper at Prentice & Evenson's drugstore, opposite post office, Janesville. Medicines not in liquid form sent by mail. Prescriptions and receipts prepared from pure drugs, cheaper than at any other reliable druggists in the country.

The Weather.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 25 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with west wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 45 degrees above zero. Clear, with north wind.

For the corresponding hours one year ago to-day the register was 27 and 46 degrees above zero.

Holland Reed.

Mr. Roland Reed, the young and popular comedian, gave an excellent impersonation of Dick Saydie, in "Cheek" at Myers opera house last night to a very appreciative and fair sized audience. It is a character in which Jan abounds, something to profit, by and a good deal to remember with pleasure. There is something quite sublime in the cool offhanded and unobtrusive cheek in the star part of the comedy. Reed very much resembles Nat Goodwin, and every movement and every word means a laugh. His facial expressions are those of a master in the art, and his sense of the ridiculous and humor is always keen and plainly pointed. The plot is reasonably good, and the acting of all the parts stamps the company as one of the best that has appeared here in many months. Miss Diancia Vaughn, took the part of "Nell," and is one of the brightest actresses we have seen for some time. She is the wife of Mr. S. S. Block, who assumed the character of Tad Bower, alias Albert Sanford.

Nothing equals Allen's Bile Beans. It quickly relieves constiveness, headache, heartburn and all other bilious troubles; 25 cts. large bottles. All druggists.

We take pleasure in informing our readers that after many years of search in the markets of the world, Messrs. Bell, Conrad & Co. the enterprising and reliable tea, coffee and spice men of Chicago, have secured a coffee that is a breakfast in itself. ## THE WOLF HUNT.

How the "Varmints" Were Hunted and Dispatched in Early Days.

The fact that a great wolf hunt is to take place in Rock county on to-morrow, and that many of our citizens will join in the chase, it may not be out of place to give the experience of the writer in a wolf hunt "down in Egypt" in the early settlement of Illinois, or more properly, perhaps, at about the time the great prairies of that state commenced to be settled up by eastern farmers.

The writer of this little sketch took up his home, in 1845, in a little settlement in the "Big Vermillion" valley; a valley then noted for its rich coal fields, its numerous acres of "sad corn," fever and ague, milk sickness, wolves, wild cats, hares, and, and raw bones. Leaving the belt of heavy timber, of maple, oak, beech and black walnut, of the Vermilion and North and South Forks, the Grand Prairie of Central Illinois was open to inspection. For miles east and west, and north and south, this great sea of grass opened up with a grandeur that astonished all Yankees who had been conditioned among the huge piles of rock in the Mohawk Valley of Yorkstate, or the green hills of Vermont. At this time but very few settlers could be found on the open prairies. The earlier pioneers had "taken to the woods," and once out on the open prairie, the traveler was often compelled to ride from fifteen to twenty miles without seeing a sign of habitation. The wolves, at that early day, were quite numerous, in fact the prairie and groves were full of them, and they were quite annoying to the stock raisers. Steel traps were found around all the hog pens, cattle "pounds" and sheep "folds." Blood hounds were kept by all the farmers, in some cases a farmer would possess six or eight of these blood thirsty dogs, for the purpose of hunting wolves. One day, in the early spring of 1845, the writer, a "right smart" boy, was out with some cattle herders, and night coming on we were compelled to stay all night in an old deserted log house in a little grove, situated on the grand prairie. We were at least twenty miles from any homes.

We had our provisions, consisting of corn doughs and bacon, which we carried in our saddle bags. After supper, we spread our blankets on the floor and turned in for the night. In a short time we were awakened by the yelp of a wolf, and soon by another, and another, until the grove seemed to be alive with the varmints. There were four in our party, three men and a boy. All the weapons consisted of three dirk knives, and a ten-foot barlow, the last being in the possession of the boy. The wolves came right up to the old log house, and to say that there were four persons inside that were frightened almost to death, is drawing it a little mild. The door and window—there was but one of each in the house—were securely barred; a good fire was burning in the fire place, around which all four stood huddled together. Finally one of the men threw a large brand of fire outside, which seemed to frighten the wolves, and they gradually commenced to scatter, and when daylight came, the four occupants inside picked up and hid good wool to that bid.

The same season we took part, as a teamster, in a grand wolf hunt, in the same locality,—locality in those days embraced a wide expanse of territory,—on the prairie, and near the grove, we "believe," was a large tree, then called the "loose tree." This was the meeting point of all the hunters,—that is they would start from their respective settlements, some being twenty and twenty-five miles distant from the tree, spread out with their hounds, horses and guns, from a circle closing in on the "loose tree." They met here in the middle of the afternoon—there must have been two or three hundred persons, and we distinctly recollect—while driving a span of mules hitched to a wagon load of spears and shovels, being in the rear of the hunters,—what a grand sight it was to our young vision to see this motley crowd approach the tree. There were hounds without number, all eager to be let loose from their chains. Presently all the parties rode up to within a mile of the "tree." The form of the circle was completed. The "drive" consisted of about a dozen deer, and four wolves. The fun commenced. The hounds were "set." Those on swift horses took after the wolves. The game was kept inside the circle for a short time. Finally one horse bolted, and the rider received a broken arm. The deer were all killed. One wolf broke out of the circle, and at least a hundred hounds and fifty horsemen took after it. It was a wild chase. The grove was about five miles away—the wolf was making for the timber—the baying of the hounds became terrific, now and then a horse would fall, and before the wolf would give up the chase. Just before reaching the grove, one of the horsemen headed off the wolf, and as it turned its course the hounds closed up and it was soon despatched. The other three wolves were killed by the horsemen, in short time. Then followed a jubilation by the crowd. Roast venison and "apple jack." It was a grove, then, and perhaps a little more exciting than that one will be which is to take place to-morrow.

Emerald Grove.

—Loren Cheney returned last week after an absence of three or four weeks in Alabama. He reports the people down in that locality planting corn, making gardens, etc.

—George K. Seebor, brother of our doctor and Miss Nellie Maud, both of Waterloo, Wis., made an overland trip to the Grove on Friday last, spending the Sabbath with Dr. and Mrs. Seebor.

—We had the pleasure of a brief visit at the school of Miss Nellie Spire, in the district east of here, and found everything in good order.

—The "Peerless" butter color, at Hastings.

—A larger beer social is to be held at the residence of Hon. George Beesley before long. Save your spare change for this occasion.

—Mrs. Leach has returned after an absence of several weeks, and is now at J. Cuckow's.

—The youngest son of J. T. Boynton has been quite sick with lung fever, but is now better.

—Notwithstanding the snow storm which hindered a good many from going, there was a fine turnout at the social at R. Lillburn's on Friday evening last. The time was spent pleasantly in music and conversation. We had the pleasure of hearing a Scotch song from our friend George Stearns. Proceeds about $7.

—A basket sale for the benefit of the Congregational society, will be held at Levi Leman's, on Friday evening, March 21.

—One of our Bowser City ladies was in town on Saturday last, endeavoring to form a class for instruction on the piano. The lady in question is desiring of recommendation in this line.

—Our worthy friend Charles H. Stolley, still keeps things on the boom, in his line and wishes to report that he is handling his share of that four-footed animal on which our destinies rest, or, to speak briefly, the hog, for which he is paying the highest market prices. He is the man to sell to.

—Remember the cake and tea social at E. B. Loyd's, on Friday evening, March 14th.

—Buy goods at Hastings, and save money.

—A kind hearted father, who lives not more than five miles from the Grove, was heard to remark, that a young man who spent the long winter evenings till about midnight spinning his only daughter, ought to furnish wood and light, inasmuch as he (the father) had them all to buy. Now, folks, this will not do,—trying to shrink responsibility, as George says. He knows your footprints in the snow; and how provoking to be sure to have it snow all over every night in the week.

—Emerald Grove is getting to be quite a telephone center, judging by the number of wires connecting with the rear end of Hastings's store.

—We learn that Uncle John Cummings and family are to leave the Grove about the 1st of April, for Dakota, to spend the summer again. We will have to submit, and feel that what is our loss in Dakota's gain.

—Mr. John McFarley has just sold to W. Kellogg & Mr. Aldrich three stallions and one filly at venting for $700. David Barless also sold to the same parties a stallion weighing for $175, all go to Nebraska. All of this stock is from the line of Glasgow No. 333. David McFarley and his team sold to the same parties one stallion three years old, "Drummers Boy" No. 2063, price $1800 cash. Also bought at the great Clydesdale sale near Cedar Rapids, Iowa, one Clydesdale filly three years old, weighing 1700 lbs., and one stallion two years old, all first class. Who says it does not pay to raise Clydesdale horses.

—Mrs. John S. Wright is gaining a little bit still very low.

—Jimmie Dean was not here for the first time after a several weeks' absence.

—We shook hands last week with A. A. Hamlin, of Darion, who was on his way through to Janesville.

—A surprise party was held at the residence of Mr. David Barless, on Friday evening last. The party surprised was Miss Nellie and most thoroughly too. The evening was pleasantly spent. As the guests were leaving Mr. Chas. Drummond of Janesville, stepped out to get his team and on coming in to tell the lady that he was ready to go, left the horse hitched in front of the door; the consequence of this little carelessness was that Charlie walked to Janesville and left his occupation to follow by stage.

—Some of the Emerald Grove folks who were subpoenaed to Shopton on a lawsuit, reported that the case was adjourned to Janesville, as there was no room in Shopton large enough to hold all the lawyers, and the witnesses had to stand out doors.

—The maple trees in our locality are losing their tops. It makes them look hard at present but joy cometh in the spring-time.

—Look out for a flood when the thaw comes, as come, it will if we guess correctly.
